Margaret Ann Dickey Dies In Allegheny General Hospital

SWALLOWS PIN AS SHE COMBS HAIR

Funeral Service to Be Held Monday at St. Paul's Church

Margaret Ann Dickey, 17, sophomore at Salem High school and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Dickey of 442 Perry st., died at 10 p. m. Friday in the Allegheny General hospital, Pittsburgh, where she was taken for the removal of a safety pin which she accidentally swallowed at her home here Wednesday afternoon.

Physicians here and at Pittsburgh were unsuccessful in their efforts to remove the pin, which caused an infection. Both lungs collapsed.

The girl, it was learned, put the pin in her mouth momentarily while she combed her hair, preparing to go to the Central Clinic where a sister, Ruth Mae Dickey, is recovering from an appendectomy. The pin slipped down her throat suddenly when she threw her head back as she combed her hair.

Efforts to remove the obstruction were not successful and on Thursday Margaret was taken to the Pittsburgh hospital.

The bronchoscopist at the Pittsburgh hospital said the girl's condition was too serious at the time of her entry there to attempt a removal of the pin. The condition causing her death was described as "severe shock, complicated by pneumonia toward the end."

Born in Wellsville, Aug. 22, 1924, she was the daughter of James and Ruth Dickey.

Surviving are her parents; two sisters, Ruth Mae and Mary Jane, and six brothers, James, Jr., George, Edward, William, Thomas and Frank, all at home; her grandmother, Mrs. Anna Davidson, and her grandfather, George Duncan of East Liverpool.

The funeral service will be held at 9 a. m. Monday at St. Paul's Catholic church in charge of Rev. Fr. Joseph Mahan. Burial will be in Spring Hill cemetery at Wellsville.

The family will meet friends at the Arbaugh-Pearce funeral home Sunday evening.

Mrs. Maria Elizabeth Wright, 82, widow of William Wright, died at her home, 142 Ohio ave., at 6:45 p. m. Friday following five months' illness. Mrs. Wright suffered severe injuries in a fall last spring.

Born in Bedford, Pa., Sept. 9, 1859, Mrs. Wright had been a resident of Salem for 60 years. She was a member of the Truist Women's Relief Corps No. 34 and had been active in the work of the order for 30 years. Two children preceded her in death.

Surviving are a daughter, Mary C. Wright, at home; two sons, Herbert of Youngstown and Walter McElowney of Findlay; one granddaughter, Mrs. Frank Spencer of Akron; one great granddaughter, Joyce Spencer of Akron.

Funeral service will be held at the Stark Memorial at 2:30 p. m. Monday, in charge of Rev. R. D. Walter. Burial will be in Hope cemetery. The family will receive friends at the Memorial Sunday afternoon and evening.

LISBON, Oct. 25.—Elizabeth Mankin of East Palestine filed an action in common pleas court here Friday seeking to collect damages in the sum of $10,000 for personal injuries suffered in traffic accident three miles west of Unity on State Route 14 last May 23.

Harvey H. Sentele of Toledo is named defendant in the action as the operator of the Sentele Trucking Co. whose truck, it is alleged in the petition, collided with the rear of the plaintiff's car which had stepped for a school bus to discharge students. The plaintiff's car was hurled some distance, and it is also charged, the plaintiff was seriously injured due to the negligence and carelessness of the operator of the truck.

Salem-Leetonia Grid Battle Possible, Pending Final O.K.'s

Both Coaches Reported Willing To Play; School Boards Will Make Decision

Enthusiasm mounted in Leetonia today for a return game with Salem High, and there are possibilities it may be played. Victors over McDonald Thursday night by a 44-0 score, Leetonia now has 224 points to 26 points for their opponents in six games this season and has chalked up a total of 11 straight wins.

Enthusiasm was high in Salem, too, with fans and faculty leaning toward a game on Thanksgiving day. The football team is ready and so is Coach Ray Overturf. Says the new grid head: "Anytime we're afraid of a good Class B school we'll stop playing against the tough Class A schools that we have been battling!"

Coach Charles Mather of Leetonia High expressed equally strong sentiments as he voiced confidence in the Leetonia grid machine. So it would seem that everything is just about set.

And it almost is. The only remaining point to be settled is the technicality of playing what would be a post-season game. The Salem board of education, in moving Salem's traditional Turkey day battle with Alliance up to Nov. 7, planned to join the general trend of Ohio high schools by ending the season earlier in Salem's case with a game against Lisbon on Nov. 15.

The phenomenal success of the Leetonia team, however, and the strong feeling on the part of fans in both towns for a return engagement after an unbroken win by Leetonia here in a practice scrimmage before the season started, has brought about open discussion on the question.

The school board will probably call a meeting to decide on whether to play, said Supt. E. S. Kerr this morning.

And that's where the matter stands now.

5 ARE INJURED IN 5 MISHAPS

Four Are Pittsburghers, Involved In Accidents In District

At least five persons were injured in as many traffic mishaps in the district last yesterday and early this morning, state highway patrol records show.

James Nudi, 30, of Pittsburgh, and his wife, Elva, 31, were hurt when their automobile overturned on the Benton road, two and one-half miles northwest of Salem, at 3 p. m. Friday. Mrs. Nudi, who was driving, lost control of the machine after it struck the soft berm of the road.

She suffered several fractured ribs and cuts about the face. Mr. Nudi received a fractured wrist and cuts and abrasions of the face.

An automobile driven by Francis J. Driscoll, 20, of Pittsburgh, ran into the door of a car operated by Elmer J. Dulake of Cleveland when the latter stopped on Route 14, one mile east of Columbiana, after being blinded by the lights of an approaching machine, state patrolmen said. This was at 9 p. m.

Driscoll suffered a cut over his left eye, while Thomas Flynn, 24, of Pittsburgh, a passenger, received a head bump. Marie Glope, 24, of Cleveland, who was in Dulake's machine, suffered a head laceration.

Three autos were involved in a collision at the intersection of Route 62 and the Homewood road. Just east of Alliance, at 1:40 a. m. today, the motorists, who were shaken and injured, were James Virgil Zimmerman, 19, of Salem; William H. Bradley, 19, of R. D. 3, Alliance; and Lyman E. Sowers, 22, of R. D. 1, North Georgetown.

An accident on Route 62, one mile west of Alliance, at 2:50 a. m. involved machines operated by Edward D. Breckner, 21, of Alliance, and John L. Baker, 22, of Canton, the patrol reported.

CALLS UPON LEWIS TO CANCEL STRIKE

Roosevelt Awaits Reply to Proposal That Mine Work Continue

(BULLETIN)
(By Associated Press)
PITTSBURGH, Oct. 25.—Local officials of the CIO United Mine Workers received orders today that 43,000 captive coal miners of seven of the nation's largest steel corporations would go on strike at midnight tonight.

President Roosevelt today awaited John L. Lewis' reply to a White House request for cancellation of a midnight strike call affecting 53,000 workers in "captive" mines owned by steel companies in Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Kentucky and Alabama.

Lewis, president of the CIO United Mine Workers, gave no immediate indication of his course of action after the President's request was made public last night.

Should the walkout occur at midnight tonight, as scheduled, there were fears that a fuel shortage might affect important defense projects.

5 ARMY PLANES ARE MISSING

Lost In Fog, Ships Hunted Over California and Nevada

(By Associated Press)
SACRAMENTO, Calif., Oct. 25.—Five army pursuit planes, missing overnight in fog and stormy weather, were hunted in widely spaced parts of California and Nevada today.

The army received a report that at least one of the five missing pilots, Lieut. J. H. Pease, parachuted to safety in the Tehachapi mountains of south-central California.

All of the ships were known to be down somewhere, because they had gasoline for only three hours' flight.

Vanish From Formation

The P-40's vanished yesterday afternoon from a formation of 19 that left March field in southern California en route to McClellan field at Sacramento.

Over the Tehachapi the fog was thick and the ships were separated. Five evidently got to McClellan field. One dropped down at Tulare, Calif., 150 miles south of McClellan.

Laborers To Millionaires--Negroes Share In Oil Wealth

Vision Houses With Plumbing; Divorced Wife of One to Boost That $7 Weekly Alimony Cut

(By Associated Press)
KANSAS CITY, Kas., Oct. 25.—A house with plumbing on a paved street, chickens, alimony, a farm in Kansas.

All these things floated before the eyes of two happy Negro brothers—and their wives—as they recovered from the shock of being told their place in the sun had changed suddenly from day workers to millionaires.

Grins widened slowly across the faces of Willie and Floyd Mayweather, packing plant employees, as they heard the news that a Spolosa, Okla., court had given them one-half share in a $7,413,236 Oklahoma oil fortune, all in cash, not to mention 160 acres of land, 15 oil wells, shops and machinery.

The other half share goes to Ozora Alexander Lee, 65, of Claremore, Okla. Attorneys estimated the entire estate's value at between $10,000,000 and $15,000,000.

To Willie, it was quite a birthday present. He was 34 yesterday. "Ah guess," he said slowly "ah'd like to buy a farm in Kansas and raise cattle. Ah want to hold on to my money."

Germans Report Capture Of "Russia's Pittsburgh"

Take Kharkov In Heart of Donets River Industrial Area; Moscow Holding, Say Soviets

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—An immediate American blockade of Japan was proposed today by Senator Pepper (D-Fla.) as an answer to Tokyo's expansion plans, plans that Secretary of the Navy Knox said might lead to a "collision" in the Far East.

Agreeing with Knox's statement that the situation in the Pacific was "extremely strained," Pepper told reporters he believed the time had come to institute a blockade cutting off all war supplies that might be consigned to Japan from any source.

"We ought to see it," Pepper declared, "that Japan gets no materials from outside sources that will furnish her for further conquests."

Would Halt Exports

This could be accomplished, he predicted, by halting all exports to Japan, closing the Panama canal to ships bound for Japanese ports, and launching a naval patrol of the Pacific sea lanes.

Knox told a group of defense manufacturers yesterday that American officials were satisfied in their own minds that the Japanese had no intention of giving up their plans for Far Eastern expansion, adding bluntly:

"If they pursue that course, a collision there is inevitable."

However, another member of the senate foreign relations committee, Senator LaFollette (Prog.-Wis.) said he was at a loss to understand Knox's statement in the light of recent developments.

USING WORDS TO CONCEAL THE TRUTH

One of the most dismal examples of using words to conceal the truth is discussion of military aid. The British are told that they must do this and so to aid the Russians. Americans are told that they must do this and so to aid both the Russians and the British. It is hard to think of a weaker reason for doing something than aiding the Russians, whose leaders have been trying to brew revolution abroad for years, or the British, who are for themselves first, last and foremost.

At the same time it is hard to think of a likelier way for Americans to help themselves than to keep the British and the Russians fighting. There need be no illusions about noble motives in a case like this. The Russians are fighting for Russia and wouldn't fight for Great Britain or the United States if they were paid. The British are fighting for Great Britain. Americans are fighting for the United States—fighting to keep Germany sufficiently busy in Europe to discourage any plans about carrying the war to North or South America.

It's not easy to decide where the notion sprang from that people had to fight for somebody else to justify the effort. It has had a particularly bad effect on Americans, many of whom are actually arguing that because the British never help anybody without cause and the Russians are something less than a keable the United States shouldn't help either nation. It seems never to have occurred to them that the United States is looking out for its own interests too.

EVERYBODY MUST BE SATISFIED

It is unlikely that Washington is going to peddle the real lowdown on the switch from Vladivostok to Archangel as the point of contact for United States supplies being sent to Russia. The field is going to be left wide open to conjecture. Perhaps it's because there isn't any more room at Vladivostok to land the stuff. Perhaps it's because Archangel is handier to the eastern coast of the United States than Vladivostok is to the western coast. Perhaps—and this was mentioned too—it's because Boston needs the business of handling supplies more than Seattle, San Francisco and other ports on the Pacific coast; Boston, for some reason or other, seems to be almost as important as Vladivostok in the arrangement.

But probably the genuine reason for the switch is Japan, which argued that the United States was assembling supplies at Vladivostok not to help Russia fight Germany but to help the United States fight Japan. In any event, the official view in this country now is that Vladivostok wasn't so hot anyway, which seems to fit in perfectly with Japan's plans. Everybody must be satisfied.

THE STARS SAY:

For Sunday, October 26

SUNDAY'S horoscope should be an extraordinarily propitious one for all the vocations and vocations of life, with particularly favorable and felicitous promise for all pertaining to the church, ecclesiastics, honors, dignities and all conventional sabbath functions. Social, cultural, romantic engagements heighten the joys of the almost perfect day, but beware of extravagance and excess.

Those whose birthday it is may be on the threshold of a year of large scope with surprising opportunity for the fulfillment of high hopes and wishes, to be enduring and stabilizing for the rest of the life. Elders benefit, there are to be rich rewards for fidelity, duty, hard work, with all the social, domestic and effectual fulfillments and joys corresponding. But do not overdo.

A child born on this day should have an unusual heritage of endowments and capacities for a rich, useful and happy life. It should be inventive, exceptionally creative as well as profound, persistent, stable, generous, and loving.

For Monday, October 27

MONDAY'S astrological forecast is for a day of unusual activity, possibly agitation, excitement and turmoil. Prospects may be excellent for direct and controlled action in many lines of opportunity, in travel, contracts, communications, writings, publications and promotions but these may be beset by impetuous and rash conduct doomed to invite bitter antagonism. Study situations calmly, act judiciously and benefits may accrue.

Those whose birthday it is may prepare for a year of activity, excitement and commotion, with many opportunities for productive work, but such may be negated by rash, impetuous and turbulent conduct, drawing down opposition and lack of co-operation desired for successful issues. "Go slow and sure."

A child born on this day should have many abilities and factors for success and progress but probably may defeat itself by its over aggressive, domineering and tempestuous behavior, thus antagonizing those it needs for cooperation. Early restraints and disciplines might prove wholesome.

"FLU" IS THREE DISEASES

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J.—The "flu" is not one disease but at least three and perhaps half a dozen or more.

With the nation fast approaching the influenza season and with the new complications of 1,600,000 men in army camps, Dr. Frank L. Horsfall, Jr., of the hospital of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research, New York, declares that there will be hitherto unsuspected problems to meet in the control of epidemics this winter.

During the winter of 1940-41 extensive tests were made of more than 1,300 persons who contracted influenza during three epidemics occurring in and near New York.

In 60 per cent of these cases it was found that the body developed antibodies, or disease-fighting substances, in the blood as they recovered. Serum taken from these patients was effective in controlling either counteracting influenza virus "A" infection or virus "B" infection, but not both, and the two could not be crossed to produce immunity.

However, a mystery soon arose in the finding that in 388 cases, or 30 per cent, antibodies were not produced against either "A" or "B" virus with sera.

"Therefore it seemed probable that at least a third distinct infectious agent might be associated with clinical influenza," Dr. Horsfall said. "Efforts to recover it have been unsuccessful."

It is impossible to differentiate between the three strains in examining a person with influenza, he added, but laboratory tests will reveal "A" or "B" as known quantities, leaving what he calls the "Y" strain as the unknown quantity in the search.

The Rockefeller Institute scientist offered the suggestion that the "Y" strain is in itself an entire new group of influenza-like disease, each with specific properties.

Since some individuals contract influenza repeatedly even though they have developed protective antibodies for the "A" and "B" strains of virus "indications are that they are contracting different viruses, being immune to one because of the antibodies produced but not to the others." He added that vaccination against the viruses has not yet proven effective.

ASSAULTS EXECUTIONS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—President Roosevelt assailed Nazi reprisal executions in Europe today, declaring them to be revolting to the world and the "acts of desperate men who know in their hearts that they can not win."

In a formal statement, the chief executive said the Nazis were developing a "new order" by "depths of frightfulness which even they have never approached before."

The statement was released by the White House without explanation of its purpose. It did not mention any specific country, but spoke of the German practice of executing scores of innocent hostages in reprisal for isolated attacks in countries under Nazi domination.

Following the killing of two German officials in France, 50 hostages were shot at Bordeaux, and scores more were scheduled to be executed in the next few days.

DON'T BLACKSLIDE AFTER DIETING

Or That Lost Weight Will Return, Warns Doctor

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

In beginning this second week of the second three-week period of the fall reducing diet, those who are still faithful to their observance of it must be beginning to realize the fun of being comparatively thin again. They must realize,

Dr. Clendenning will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

So, that it would be folly and wastefulness to return to eating anything and everything in any quantity as soon as the diet period is over.

So plan now to get into the habit of keeping up a maintenance diet macaroni, spaghetti, pastry, pies, cakes.

Vegetables high in carbohydrates such as—potato, shelled peas and beans, corn, parsnips.
Fats, such as—butter, salad oils, cream.
Meats high in fat—pork, lamb chops.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
M. L. P.: "I am fifteen years old, five and a half feet tall, and don't look at all thin at one hundred and eleven pounds. Would I be considered underweight?"
Answer: Your ideal weight is about 120 pounds, but you're near enough so you need not worry.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clendenning has seven pamphlets which can be which will maintain your low weight level.

You should have learned by following these diets to plan your own. They are simply suggested as models and to save you the trouble of planning three meals in detail. Any kind of substitution so long as you preserve the spirit of the reducing diet, is all right.

Eat Less
I am often asked what are thinning and reducing foods, or rather the form the question takes is—"Is such or such an article of diet thinning?" The answer is—all foods have caloric value. No food is thinning if you take enough of it. In other words, the emphasis should be put on amount and not kind of food. But, of course, on account of their concentrated calories certain foods are more fattening than others. These are the fats—salad dressings, gravies, cream desserts, butter sauce, cream soups are the worst enemies, and the carbohydrates—sugar, candy, bread, potatoes, rice, etc.

Dr. Clifford Barbocka, in his book Treatment by Diet gives the following:

Typical Foods Allowed in Reduction Diets
Skimmed milk and buttermilk.
Eggs.

Lean meats—chicken, liver, fish, shrimp, crabmeat, the lean parts of meat.

Fruits—5% and 10% such as—cantaloupe, rhubarb, avocado, watermelon, blackberries, cranberries, gooseberries, grapefruit, lemon, lime, orange, papaya, peach, pineapple, strawberries, tangerines.

Vegetables—5% such as—asparagus, broccoli, cabbage, cauliflower, celery, cucumber, egg-plant, lettuce, okra, radishes, sauerkraut, spinach, string beans, squash, tomato; and 10%—artichokes, beets, carrots, kale, onion, parsley, peas, pumpkin, turnips.

Typical Foods to Avoid in Reduction Diets
Sugar and candy.

Starches, such as—bread, cereal.

BARRED 7 SEVENS by MARYSE RUTLEDGE

CHAPTER TWENTY-SIX
David poured drinks, his blue eyes on the girl. He couldn't tell even at a glance. Last Sunday when Jane had turned up to confess she still loved him, he had let her down, saying, "Well, how could he marry a girl while he was tied in with the mob?" He kicked at a piece of furniture, and stared out of the French window. He wished he were back at Slagans, selling sports shoes.

"What do you know about Kum Hein?" Bill shot suddenly at him. "I mean the writer chap who lives opposite the Riders?"
"Nothing. Why?" David looked at him.
"Nothing," Bill grimaced, shifting his eyes in the slings. "I only wanted to know if Garrison had ever met him. He testified at the trial, didn't he?"

David ruffled his hair. "He was there when Jane and I discovered the body. But—"

Bill tried another track. "Has Garrison ever mentioned anything about Breanu? I mean in connection with the trial?"

"Nothing important," David glanced away from his friend. He was bound to Garrison by the nature of the stolen envelope which, apparently, had so very much to do with any possible solution of the murder. And he was bound by his promise to Bill to say nothing to Garrison about the night they had followed Breanu. And he wasn't good at hiding things, either.

Bill set his glass down, and whispered to the door. "Guess I'll be going."

David dashed after him. "Hey, Bill—listen. Garrison's throwing a party next Saturday. If I don't see you before then, better drop in. He meant that Bill and Richard Garrison ought to get together."

"Maybe I will," Bill smiled, and went.

Fan Rubley sat at her dressing table. She didn't want to go to Garrison's party. Too many things on her mind. Selinda looped her hair curls in crests and buns, and shaped high above her round, comely face. Her lips were brilliant as a crimson silk bow-knot fastened under her short arched nose. She would wear her red velvet.

"Make me an old-fashioned," she sounded tired and cross.
"Yes, ma'am," Selinda, a colored version of a scabrette, tripped into the small kitchen of the apartment on West 67th Street. She mixed two old-fashioned; one for herself. Miss Fan was in a pet. Selinda thought lovingly of Doremus, Miss Fan's man. It made a kind of foursome: Miss Fan and Miss Fan, Selinda and Doremus, who was suitably high class.

Fan emptied her glass without pleasure. Mat had sent neither flowers nor his car for her this evening. Getting too sure of himself, she thought of his brief grip on her throat the day after the murder when she had started to tell him her real name—Fenia Rubloff—and part of her early past. He had better watch his step. He couldn't scare her. . . . could he?

Selinda slipped the sleek red velvet over her shoulders.
"Another old-fashioned," Fan ordered, staring at herself in the mirror set in white and gold panels. She wished she weren't so tall. By the time she was thirty her shoulders would be ruined by her habit of bending down to shorter men like Mat. She thought of David Farland. He'd be there tonight. It wouldn't be so bad after all.

The telephone rang in the adjoining bedroom. Fan flew to answer. But it wasn't Mat. It was Richard Garrison.

"I'm counting on you tonight. Feeling all right?" His voice was warm and a trifle anxious.
"Well," she sounded clear. Good old Dick—her friend. Not likely she would ever tell anyone Dick had loved her before Breanu ever met her. And wild horses couldn't drag from her a few other things she guessed about Garrison.

"You can help me tonight, Fan," he said, and hesitated, lowering his pleasant tone. "Remember Farland speaking of a suspicious couple on the ferry the night Carlisle was murdered?"

Fan swayed a little on the ruffled bedspread where she sat, cradling the telephone. The old-fashioned were getting in their work. She hadn't eaten all day. "Yes." If she could stick to words of one syllable. . . .

She didn't deceive Garrison. He spoke sharply. "Snap out of it, Fan! This afternoon, the police went to the room in a hotel of a couple called Switzer. The man wasn't there. But they found a note to him, evidently written by his wife. 'Listening.'"

"Yes," Fan tried to concentrate. She stared at a doll on the yellow taffeta cushions on the bed. The doll had blue eyes like her own. The name Switzer rang through dim corridors of her mind.

Garrison's voice reached her urgently. "When you roomed with Switzer, did you ever meet the Switzers?"

Fan nodded at the telephone. She remembered in a haze, once years ago, coming home and finding Carlisle with some people—Witzer, Switzer, Switzer—they had left at once.

Garrison was talking again. "Pull yourself together. The woman must have found you in the telephone book, because in the note she left in that room, she said she was going to look up one of Carlisle's old friends. That means you—or me. Get it, Fan? Get it?"

"Yes," Fan said.
"If she turns up before you leave, Fan, bring her over here. Understand?" Garrison was pleading with her to clear her mind. He added as a master-stroke, "Farland says he's sure you'll help. Have your maid stay there, and have her telephone you or me, if she comes after you leave. Tell her to have the woman wait."

"Yes," Fan said again, and rang off. One more little nipple, and she'd feel better. Dick hadn't said a word as to where Mat was. Why should this Switzer woman come here? And the police—Fan shivered. Suppose they questioned her about Mat. Ridiculous. They had no right—

The front door bell whirled. Fan could hear Selinda's high heels tapping on the hardwood floor. Whoever it was—Then Selinda cried out. "Miz Rubley—on Lawdwy, come quick!"

It wasn't the police. A woman had half-staggered, half-fallen inside the narrow white lobby. Her silly hat flapped to one side. Her imitation mink coat was open on a silk dress. Her eyes were puffy with crying.

The fog lifted from Fan's brain. "What's Selinda?" So this was Mrs. Switzer! She remembered the woman's face now, though it had been smug when last she saw it.

She took the poor creature by the arm, leading her into the living room off the hall.

"I hoped you'd remember me, Mrs. Rubley," Anna Switzer said pitifully. "My husband tried to kill me this afternoon. I didn't know where to hide!"

"The police are after your husband, Mrs. Switzer. They found your note. A friend just telephoned me."

"The police!" Mrs. Switzer whispered. "But I swear we had nothing to do with it. I— Her teeth were chattering.

Where the devil was Selinda? Fan needed a drink, herself. Her red velvet gown flowed in folds from her waist, as she hurried to the kitchen. Selinda was taking her time, muttering. Fan poured herself a spot of whiskey, drank it, and snatched the bottle and another glass from the tray Selinda was preparing. "Don't bother now, Selinda. I'll take this."

But when she got back into the living room, Mrs. Switzer was gone.

Here's How Nazis Would Dismember Russia

This map shows how the Nazis plan to cut up the Russian Bear (with the aid of Japan). Germany has cut a big slice in the West for herself; a big slice in the East goes to Japan, and what's left would be a "free" Russia under orders from Berlin. Even the name of Russia would disappear from the map. This plan was elaborated in detail by Alfred Rosenberg and his expert staff.

Legendary Indian Summer To Start Early Next Month

(By United Press)

ITHACA, N. Y., Oct. 25.—The mild, sunny weather has brought to the fore the perennial argument—When is Indian Summer?—Has it come already, or will it arrive in November?

Dr. E. Bates, adviser of Indian extension at Cornell university, says the time is definitely around full moon in November, after the first hard frosts. The reason? Well, here is the answer in the legend of the Great Spirit who gave the "lazy farmer" a second chance.

The moon this year enters its third phase in November on the third day, or Monday.

The bluebirds and the robins long since have flown to the land of the south wind, and the honk of the wild geese is heard as the smoky haze is wafted westward at sunset.

Harvest Time for All
The gathering of the ripened corn in the cleared land beyond the villages has been completed by most of the villagers, and most of the animals have garnered their winter store of nuts.

Most of the leaves have fallen from the oak and the maple, and Mother Nature is about to close her eyes for the long winter moons, soon at hand.

However, there are some lazy folk in the village who do not see the approach of winter and consequently say that there is still time for harvest.

At length come the sudden gusts of cold wind through the village, and the early morning sunrise glimmers on the frost laden sitting on the roofs of the lodges.

"Lazy Man" Awakes
Finally the Great Bear in the sky opens his mouth and the first flakes of snow descend, and through the veins of the lazy man come the awakening shivers.

In desperation, he appeals for another chance, so in answer come the few warm suns of early November.

The Indians call it "lazy-farmer-moon" for it is his last chance to harvest. Because at eventide in the golden sunset, changing forms of blue autumnal haze arise like the smoke from the council fires of the redmen, palefaces nowadays call the season Indian Summer.

MISSION WORKERS TO SPEAK SUNDAY

Rev. and Mrs. Vivian Smith, who have spent 12 years in French West Africa as missionaries among the Mossi tribe of two million people, will be the evening speakers at the Lighthouse Tabernacle Sunday.

This has been accomplished, and also other literature and over 40 songs translated.

They will tell of their adventures with lions and the wild life of Africa and of the openheartedness of the natives to the gospel.

Unnoticed—UNTIL THE END OF THE JOURNEY

Haven't you finished a journey, and walked by the sleek, panting engine that brought you safely and swiftly to your destination, and felt a sort of awe for the husky, competent man leaning so negligently out of the window on the engineer's side of the cab?

I marvel at the skill of a man who can hurl those hundreds of tons of steel through rain and fog and darkness, with all those sleeping lives depending upon him, and him alone. His is a stout and understanding heart.

Funeral directors, like the Stark Memorial organization, have that same specialized skill, that same utter trustworthiness, that inspires automatic confidence in them and in their work.

"Probation After Death" Christian Science Sermon

"Probation After Death" is the subject of the lesson sermon which will be read at the morning worship of the Christian Science Society tomorrow at 11 a. m. The Sunday service is also broadcast over station WOLE (610 Kil.). Cleveland the first and third Sundays of each month at 11 a. m. Sunday school for pupils up to the age of 20 years is held at 9:30 a. m. The midweek service is held the first Wednesday of each month at the church at 8 p. m.

The Golden Text is: "Take heed, brethren, lest there be in any of you an evil heart of unbelief, in departing from the living God. But exhort one another daily, while it is called 'To-day'." (Hebrews 3:12-13).

Among the citations which come from the Lesson Sermon is the following from the Bible: "The night is far spent, the day is at hand; let us therefore cast off the works of darkness, and let us put on the armor of light" (Romans 13:12).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The footsteps of thought, rising above material standpoints, are as a ladder, and portend a long night to the traveler; but the angels of His presence—the spiritual intuitions that tell us when the night is far spent, the day is at hand—are our guardians in the gloom. Whoever opens the way in Christian Science is a pilgrim and stranger, marking out the path for generations yet unborn" (p. 174).

This society maintains a reading room at 136 S. Broadway where the Bible and all authorized Christian Science literature may be read or borrowed. Open from 1:30 to 4 p. m. on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday and from 7 to 9 p. m. on Saturday. A cordial invitation is extended to all to attend the services and visit the reading room.

Bible Still Ranks World's Best Seller

"God's Way Versus Man's Way" will be the theme of the pastor's sermon at the morning service Sunday in Trinity Lutheran church. Rev. G. D. Keister will use as his text Isaiah 55:7-9.

The Holy Bible speaks very definitely about the word of God. "Heaven and earth shall pass away, but my word shall not pass away." This quotation is also to the point. "The word of God shall stand forever." The holy scriptures still rank as the best seller. No other book can equal it in the number of copies sold. No other book has endured through the many years of criticism and research. The trend toward materialism and humanism has not placed the Bible on the discarded list.

The many attempts of man to be self-sufficient have not stopped the desire of the human heart to hear and to understand this message of life, which has come down through the inspired writers of holy writ. No word of man can ever replace this Book Divine.

9:45 a. m. Sunday school with classes for all ages and grades. The lesson topic is "The Enduring Scriptures," which will emphasize the festival of the Reformation on Friday, Oct. 31.

Why I Must Go To Church Second Reason

Because of God's gracious promises to church-goers. The Bible contains many precious promises of God for those who go to church. Take your Bible and look up Rom. 10, 17; John 8, 31; Matt. 18, 19; Matt. 18, 20; Luke 11, 28. "Blessed are they that hear the Word of God and keep it."

God pronounces His blessing upon those who go to church and hear His word. When God speaks a blessing, that is not the weak and empty word of man; it is the living and almighty Word of God. According to His Word, God really bestows His blessing upon all who hear and keep His Word.

The Word of God is a powerful means through which the Holy Spirit does His saving and sanctifying work. When people hear the Word, the Spirit creates faith in their hearts, and plants them into Christ; or He strengthens their faith and draws them closer to Christ. Thus they get the forgiveness of sins, and strength to overcome sin. They get power to bear every burden and comfort for every sorrow. They get the victorious life already for this world, which leads them into the heavenly life in eternity.

Shall we neglect the church, and thus lose these blessings of God? No! I must go to church, because of God's gracious promises to church-goers.

Minnesota, Northwestern Favored In Nation's Top Grid Games

Gophers Picked To Beat Michigan, Wildcats Over Bucks, In Football Classics

By BILL BONI
Associated Press Sports Writer.

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Oct. 25.—The power which Minnesota football teams can throw at and outside enemy tackles was expected to pay off for another Gopher victory today and bring Minnesota its eighth straight triumph over Michigan.

With both teams undefeated and united and this college town in an uproar reminiscent of the boom days of a dozen years ago, today's clash was expected to break all Western conference records for paid attendance. All of the 85,753 seats were sold days ago and, with the weather forecast reading "fair and warmer," all of those seats were sure to be filled.

The Gophers, winners of three straight this fall but not seriously tested since their opener with Washington, went into action as 5-7 favorites, but their success or failure appeared to rest primarily on the quality of ends, lone question marks in a mobile, hard-hitting Michigan line that makes up in drive for the Gophers' greater heft and reserve strength.

Both Michigan ends, Harlan Fraumana and Joe Rogers, played 60-minute ball in last Saturday's upset of Northwestern, and they caught the touchdown passes.

Shapes Up Same
The game shaped up just as it did six days ago. Minnesota the edge in man-power, especially to the line, and backfield speed, and Michigan a shade to the good on the line, so long as its first-stringers stay in action; in punting, on the "spot" kicking of Sophomore Tailback Tom Kuzma, and in passing, a weapon which this Minnesota team, like most of its predecessors, has scorned in favor of a crushing running attack.

If this appeared a typical Minnesota team, the Wolverines looked considerably different from the punt-pass-prayer outfits of the past. Coach Fritz Crisler has given them more offensive versatility by adding his adaptation of the "T" formation with man in motion, and from the week's practice sessions it was apparent Michigan would bank heavily on the passing of Kuzma and his replacements, little Dave Nelson and sophomore Don Robinson.

True To Type
As for the coaches, they were true to type. Bierman, since his squad checked in at nearby Jackson yesterday, has ridiculed the odds and insisted his boys aren't mentally "up." Crisler has been uncommonly affable, giving an impression of confidence.

CALLS UPON LEWIS TO CANCEL STRIKE

mine production and even eventually tie up steel plants.

End Strike in N. Jersey

But as the captive mine dispute approached a showdown, defense officials welcomed word of settlement of a long-standing strike at the Bendix, N. J., plant of Air Associates, Inc. Federal officials announced that the plant management had agreed to return striking employees to the payroll Monday.

The only issue in the captive mine controversy was the United Mine Workers' insistence upon a union shop contract.

The President not only asked that Lewis call off the strike, but proposed that Lewis and Myron C.

Taylor, former board chairman of the United States Steel corporation, take the lead in direct negotiations between operators and miners.

Unable to Get Meeting

Earlier, the defense mediation board announced that it had not been able to bring about a "meeting of minds" in conferences with the disputants, but recommended these alternative plans for settlement.

1. That the question be submitted to the complete mediation board's decision would be accepted.

2. That each party appoint negotiators and agree that if the negotiators did not produce a settlement, the negotiators should select an arbitrator whose decision would be final.

FIVE U. S. ARMY PLANES MISSING

Eight other planes, including those of Major C. E. Hughes and Captain Peter McGoldrick, commanding the group, landed at Smith, Nev., 60 miles south of Reno and on the opposite side of the towering Sierra Nevada from Sacramento.

Plots of the missing ships were Lieutenant L. C. Lydon, J. C. West, W. L. Birrell, a Lieutenant Long, and Lieutenant Pease. The March field base said army men had gone into the Tehachapi mountains to check a report from ranchers that Pease landed safely.

Lieut. Birrell is the son of G. H. Birrell, former Trumbull county (Ohio) prosecutor. He graduated from high school at Warren and then went to West Point.

On Final Lap

The 19 ships' ultimate destination was McChord field, Wash. They belong to the 57th pursuit squadron and were on a final lap of a cross-country flight that began last Monday at Windsor Locks, Conn.

Five other army fliers were killed yesterday when a Douglas B-18A bomber crashed into Twin Sister peaks, near Fairfield, Calif., while enroute in poor flying weather from Hamilton field to its home base at Fort Douglas, Utah. The commanding officer was Capt. Franklin S. Nelson, 34, Salt Lake City.

One of the five killed was a native of Lansing, O., technical Sgt. Andy Zeik of Salt Lake City, 38.

Others were: Second Lieut. E. Wamsell, 24, co-pilot, Lander, Wyo.

Technical Sergeant Robert M. Kinney, 32, Salt Lake City.

Private John W. Phillips, 23, Salt Lake City.

Here and There About Town

On Student Congress

Miss Gloria Gibson, daughter of C. R. Gibson, 1034 S. Lincoln ave., has been elected to represent her residence hall in the newly-organized student congress at Stephens college, Columbia, Mo.

The purpose of this congress is to give the girls actual training in government, using the student body to represent the "nation." It seeks to bring about a closer relationship between the student government and the student body and to give every girl a feeling of responsibility, thus following the Stephens theory of training its young women for future responsibilities as citizens of democracy.

Elected by the popular vote of their fellow residents, the girls will bring to the congress the constructive ideas and criticisms of their "constituents" where their value will be discussed.

Representation is composed of 10 per cent of the membership of each of the 18 residence halls.

W. R. C. To Meet

Fish Management Agents Plan Parley

LISBON, Oct. 25.—A state-wide conservation conference of fish management agents will be held in the Hotel Wick here Monday and Tuesday, Nov. 24-25, according to an announcement today by Richard Andrus, president of the Columbiana County Fish & Game Protective association.

The conference will be headed by Dr. T. H. Langlois of Put-in-Bay, chief of fish management agents and director of the Stone laboratory at Ohio State university. He will be accompanied by Milton B. Troutman, research associate in the laboratories, and E. L. Wickliffe, assistant chief of fish management agents.

The meeting or field conference is for the purpose of bringing together all agents, and the group will view the stream improvement work which has been done in this county.

The annual banquet of the county association will also be held at that time with a 6:30 dinner in the Hotel Wick on Monday evening, Nov. 24, when the county group will be host to members of the conference and notable sportsmen and conservationists from all parts of the state.

Plans for further work along lines of natural conservation in Columbiana county were outlined at a meeting of members of the state department of conservation and local officers Friday afternoon.

The meeting, held in the Hotel Wick, was attended by Edwin E. Scott, district engineer of the department; Walter Lauffer, department photographer; George Messers, fish management agent; Deputy Game Warden L. W. Boring of Columbiana county; and Richard Andrus, president of the County Fish & Game association.

The plans to re-open the stream improvement work in this county followed a discussion of the merits and good derived from prevention of erosion, stream control and reforestation and it is possible 200 dams may be built in the county streams.

Although the water stood at eight-foot levels in many sectors of the city, rescue workers and state guard members rushed to the scene by Governor Payne Ratner, succeeded in effecting all rescues without a fatality.

It was a different story around the corner at the home of Mrs. Floyd Mayweather.

"Where do ah come in? We're separated. Ah'm divorcing Floyd," she said. "Ah don't want no part of him."

"Ah's asking $7 a week alimony, but man—you is a fool if you think the first thing in the morning ah ain't gonna hurry right down and do a little manipulating with that figure."

The ruling yesterday by District Judge C. O. Beavers climaxed a 10-year lawsuit. Mrs. Lee was described as a half-sister of Lete Kolin, Indian woman to whom the land originally was allotted. The Mayweathers are nephews of Joe Stevens, Lete's Negro husband.

The Sinclair and Minchoma oil companies, the defendants, were instructed to pay the helps the $7,413,286 in cash, which represents royalties and interest on oil and gas produced from the land since 1915, and ordered to surrender at once control of the land, located between Drumright and Oilton, a gasoline plant and the 15 producing oil wells.

"Bluff" Says Japan

TOKYO, Oct. 25.—The assembly by Frank Knox, United States secretary of the navy, that a coalition with Japan is inevitable unless it abandons her "plans of expansion" was characterized by the Japanese press today as a bit of American bluffing.

"Knox is trying to bluff Japan," declared an editorial in the newspaper Hochi. "We are carrying Japan's decided policies regarding bluffing by Americans."

"Knox's speech is his usual blunder of attempting to threaten Japan," said Chuai. "We have to be very careful with the United States attitude, as threatening and appeasing arguments go side by side in order to work out a clever plot."
